GRAFFITI MAN!

by Soylent Purpose? Never! Cody

When I was in High School I was in a Million Bands and all of them were more or less just us running around saying, "Hey Man, I'm in a BAND!" Course we couldn't play Instruments. We were fuckin' Punk Rock.

Well, Cottage Grove High School did spawn One really good band, S.O.L. 17, which consisted of J.P. Otto, his Brother Alex, & Shawn Swisher. They were one of the Best Bands that ever existed. (S.O.L. Stood for Sick Of Life, the title of one of their hits.)

S.O.L 17 didn't last long, but soon spawned ONE of the best Eugene Punk Legends, The Minimals (original Idea: use all half-sized instruments). They didn't last as long as anyone wanted, but I saw one of their WOW Hall shows w/Artless Motives and it kicked ass.

Now J.P. is in the Readymen, hardcore Ska at it's finest. Their Guitar player, Brendon (or Brandon?) used to be in Piglet (another dead Eugene Legend). You can Catch The Readymen around town at Icky's or The Monkeyhouse or wherever.

Anyway, back in High School my ex-girlfriend Melissa wrote a story about a made-up band and she used a take off of S.O.L. as the band's name in the story.

It was called L.S.D.

This is a blatent Rip-Off of That in her Honer.

...This report says organized crime is taking over half our revenues!! What can we do?

Let's welcome in the new year!

YOU CALLED ME?

WE HEARD YOUR MESSAGE LOUD AND CLEAR

HOLD STILL!

HEY, DOUG — TAKE THIS LACY THING OFF MY FACE AND HAVE A SEAT.....IT'S TIME WE HAD A LITTLE CHAT ABOUT MENTAL HEALTH.

I could find a new CAREER!

and get a new HAIRCUT!

JUST A MINUTE!...

I'VE FELT APATHETIC, ALOOF, DISTANT, IMPASSIVE, AND SORT OF WITHDRAWN SINCE I'VE BEEN HERE.
